RE : Product Obsolescence Notification Hardox® 400

SSAB is a world leading producer of High Strength Steel including Wear Plate (Hardox). We continuously strive to improve the technology and innovations to make products lighter, increase their strength and lifespan, as well as protect the environment for our green planet.

As a part of our continuous commitment to provide customers with the most advance technology and best experience of steels, SSAB is undergoing the obsolescence of Hardox® 400 to higher grades of Hardox® 450 & Hardox® 500TUF for a better performance to extend the application service life.

In the final transition, the mills will only produce Hardox® 400 to a few contract customers with MOQ where SSAB Swedish Steel (Southeast Asia) has discontinued the new order intake of Hardox® 400.

We assure you that the provided Hardox wear plates are at the best quality, produced using the state-of-the-art material, techniques and processes certificated by SSAB and produced only in our mills in Sweden/American.

Please feel free to reach us directly or contact GAC- SSAB certified Hardox® Wear Part Center if you have any further clarification on the above matter.
